

TO-DAY'S SPECIAL ELECTION

CONSOLIDATION WILL PROBABLY BE EASILY CARRIED.

No Contest Looked for Except Perhaps in the Fifteenth—A Big Vote Expected—Town Council Goodhart's Decision as to Who May Vote—Saloon in the Three Wards Need Not Close—The Consolidation Act—An Open Ballot to be Used.

To-day the vote will be taken in the three outlying wards, the Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth, on the question of consolidation. A big vote is looked for in all three wards and those who know, or think they do, say that consolidation will carry the day. In the Thirteenth ward in Westville and in the Fourteenth ward in the annex there is no strong opposition to consolidation, but in the Fifteenth there will be some contest with the chances in favor of supporting consolidation.

In answer to a request from the selectmen, Town Council Goodhart yesterday gave a decision in reference to the question as to who shall be entitled to vote in the three outlying wards on the consolidation act. The selectmen were undecided as to whether all the voters whose names appear on the last regular voting lists of the three wards should be entitled to vote at to-day's special election.

In his decision Mr. Goodhart says that the laws which govern the selection of those entitled to vote, that only electors who reside in any of the three wards on the day of the election may cast their ballots on the consolidation question. Those who have moved out of any of these wards since the last registry lists were made out will not be allowed to vote to-day.

Prosecuting Agent Dewell yesterday decided that the saloons in the three wards, the Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth, need not close to-day on account of the special election, as the statute provides that saloons shall close on the days of any state, city or town election, and Mr. Dewell does not consider that the special election to-day comes under this provision, it being neither a state, city or town election.

The selectmen have decided that the secret ballot will not be used in to-day's election, as in the legislative act relating to consolidation of the town and city of New Haven no mention is made as to whether the secret ballot system shall be used in view of this consolidation the selectmen have decided for the open ballot.

TO-DAY'S VOTING.

What the Consolidation Act Says.

The consolidation act provides that that portion of the town of New Haven which is not now included within the limits of the city of New Haven, is hereby annexed and made a part of said city, and the boundaries of said town shall hereafter be the boundaries of said city. All the powers, duties and liabilities of said town respecting highways, private ways and bridges and respecting paupers shall on the first day of May, 1896, be transferred to and imposed upon said city, and all the provisions of the charter of said city concerning highways, etc., shall be extended and made to apply to all territories which this act brings within the jurisdiction of the city.

The act also provides for the establishment of a department of charities and corrections in said city under the management and control of a board composed of four members, who shall be residents of said city and who shall serve without pay. The members of the board shall be appointed by the board of aldermen upon nomination of the mayor. After May 1, 1896, this department of charities and correction shall be charged with the care of the poor belonging to said city, and shall execute all laws relative thereto, which would, except for this act, apply at any time to the selectmen of said town.

It is also provided that all powers and duties of the selectmen of said town concerning the appointment and supervision of conservators, guardians and overseers, the commitment of persons to the Connecticut School for Boys or the Connecticut Industrial School for Girls, or insane persons and indigent inmates children to the proper institutions, the indenture of apprentices, the giving of children in adoption, the education of children, the collection and return of statistics concerning the deaf, dumb and blind, and concerning all other matters affecting the defective and dependent classes shall be taken from the selectmen and vested and exercised or performed by said board of charities and corrections.

The remainder of the act which is of special interest at this time is as follows:

The town clerk of said town shall continue to discharge all of the duties reposed in, in addition to the fees of his office, shall be $1,500 a year, which, together with the expenses of his office, not including salaries of his assistants, shall be paid by said city. On or before the tenth day of December in each year, beginning in 1896, he shall submit to the mayor an account of his doings and the doings of his office for the year ending on the 30th of November next preceding, which report shall contain a statement of all money received and expended during said year.

There shall be elected at the December election, 1896, and in each thereafter, five selectmen who shall hold office for one year from the first day of January next following their election, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified. On and after the first day of May, 1896, the powers and duties of the selectmen of said town shall be limited to those powers vested in, and those duties imposed upon them by the constitution and laws of the state in relation to the admission of persons to the privilege of electors of said town and to the exercise of the registry list of the names of those who have forfeited the privileges of electors. No elector shall vote for more than three selectmen at any election. Each of said selectmen shall receive fifty cents per hour for the time actually spent in the discharge of said duties, and their necessary expenses, and their compensation and expenses shall be paid by said city.

After the first day of May, 1896, the town of New Haven shall elect no officers, except its selectmen, town clerk, tax collector, registrar of vital statistics, board of assessors, board of relief,

Justices of the peace, grand jurors and constables. The city of New Haven shall elect registrars of voters at its December election in 1896, and annually thereafter, to serve for one year from the first day of January next after their election, and the powers and duties of said registrars shall be the same as they would have been in said town had the act not been passed, and they shall be subject to all laws which would otherwise apply to the corresponding officers of said town. All expenses of said town election shall be paid by said city. All electors of said town residing within the territory of said town annexed to said city as herebefore provided, shall be electors of said city and shall be qualified to hold office in said city and to vote at all city elections.

All officers not heretofore mentioned, who would, except for this act, be elected by said town, shall, after said first day of May, 1896, be chosen and appointed by the court of common council of the city of New Haven, in so far as said officers are necessary under the laws; and they shall have the same powers and be charged with the same duties that would otherwise devolve by law upon such officers in said town.

All property of said town shall, on the first day of May, 1896, be transferred to and vested in the corporation of the city of New Haven, and said city shall have full authority to collect for its own use all town taxes and all other moneys which are due to said town and unpaid when this act goes into effect; and said city is hereby made liable for all debts which, except for this act, might at any time be enforced against said town.

The Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth voting districts of the town of New Haven are hereby constituted respectively the Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth wards of said city.

Freemen residents in the said Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth wards, respectively, shall, on the first Tuesday of December, 1896, elect by ballot from their number in each of said wards, as prescribed by law, and in the same manner as the other wards of said city, one alderman and three councilmen, who shall hold office for the term of one year from and after the first day of January next succeeding their election, and one alderman who shall hold office for the term of two years from and after the first day of January next succeeding their election; and on the first Tuesday of December in each succeeding year shall elect one alderman, who shall hold office for the term of two years from and after the first day of January next succeeding their election. The aldermen and councilmen representing said Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth wards shall not vote upon any question relating to the consolidation of the town and city of New Haven, but shall vote upon all other questions in which their respective wards have no direct interest.

No property outside of the present limits of the city of New Haven shall, after the first day of May, 1896, receive any service, protection, or improvements from the government of said city, except such as have heretofore been furnished by the town of New Haven; and none of said property shall be subject to burdens by assessment, taxation, or otherwise, for sidewalks, curbing, sewers, or any other public work, which would be properly described by the term city improvements, except such as might have been laid by the town of New Haven; and none of said property shall be taxed by said city more than four mills on the dollar, exclusive of the school tax, or assessed at a higher rate than property in other parts of the city.

Nothing herein shall be construed to abolish the Westville school district, the South school district, or the borough of Fair Haven East, or to abrogate their respective jurisdictions over all portions of their respective territories.

Whenever twenty electors residing in either of the said Thirteenth, Fourteenth or Fifteenth wards shall petition the court of common council of said city that the ward within which they reside may be brought under the full jurisdiction of said city, so that the persons and property within said ward may secure from the government of said city the same benefits and be subject to the same obligations as persons and property within the original twelve wards of said city, said court of common council, after due hearing, if it deems expedient, may fix a day on which all the legal voters residing within the limits of said ward shall vote upon the question whether they are in favor of or opposed to said petition. And if on said day a majority of the legal voters residing within said ward shall be found in favor of having said petition granted, said court of common council may grant the same and make an order that the said ward shall hereafter be and remain under the full jurisdiction of said city, and such order shall have the same force and effect as if it formed a part of this act.

All powers and duties of said town not otherwise provided for in this act shall, on and after the first day of May, 1896, devolve upon said city and be exercised and discharged in such manner as the court of common council shall order.

After May 1, 1896, no town meetings shall be held in the town of New Haven, except for the election of town officers.

Whenever any vacancy shall occur in any office required by this act, before the expiration of the term of such office, said vacancy shall within thirty days thereafter be filled for the remainder of the unexpired term by choosing a new officer in the same manner in which and from the same political party from which the last incumbent of said office was chosen.

All acts and part of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

Whales Off Long Island.

Amagansett, L. I., Nov. 25.—The whaling crews on the Long Island coast have not thus far met with any success this season. Several whales have made their appearance off the east end of the Long Island coast, but in every instance they have escaped from the crews. Two big whales have been sighted a number of times off this place, since November 19, but, although the crews put out promptly in their boats they did not get close enough to throw harpoons into the monsters.

SEAT SALE OPENS TO-DAY.

Faderewski, the Great Pianist. This morning the sale of seats opens at the box office of the Hyperion theater for Faderewski's piano recital at the Hyperion on Tuesday afternoon, December 3, at 2:30 o'clock. An exchange says:

The most interesting number on the program was undoubtedly M. Faderewski's "Fantasie Polonaise," both on account of its novelty and because of the beauty and intrinsic merit of the work itself. In considering this composition one must not forget that according to the design of the composer, it is a fantasia for orchestra with piano, and not one for piano with orchestra, as otherwise one would be tempted to say that, as in so many modern concertos, the solo instrument had been sacrificed to orchestral effect. But in this case the piano is only one factor in the general scheme of effect.

To me this fantasia lacks the poetry, picturesqueness and emotional suggestiveness of his piano concerto, but it is so instinct with life and force, so full of color and national character, that it fairly carries one away with its buoyancy, dash and energy. The melodic kernel of the whole work is contained in the first phrase given out by the full orchestra, which is amplified and developed in most ingenious fashion in the succeeding movements. The character of the four movements—all of moderate vivace, the scherzo-andante and allegro giocoso—suggests the usual symphonic form, the treatment is wholly in the style of a free fantasia, but dignified, artistic and musically, the working out of the various themes being for the most part symphonic.

HAILED WITH JOY.

The Great Drouth Broken.

Pittsburg, Nov. 25.—Pittsburg river interests are watching the weather with a joyous expectancy. Reports received tell of rises and rains at nearly all headwater points on the upper streams, and these with a rise of nearly two feet at Davis Island dam, have set coal operators to preparing for a stage of water that will carry down the immense fleets of coal now lying in the harbor. It is certain that a number of light tows will get away to-morrow, and if the expectation is realized by that time, several hundred thousand bushels of coal will go out. All the passenger lines will be running by Wednesday and some of the rivermen even predict that by that time the harbor can be cleared of all laden craft.

By the reopening of the rivers 20,000 men will be given employment from Pittsburg to Cairo, and 600 boats will resume operations after the longest drouth in the history of interior navigation. Over 3,500 men will be sent out with the light stuff alone, the majority of which make Pittsburg their headquarters. The last full tow that went out of Pittsburg was on April 18. Since that time over 30,000,000 bushels of coal have accumulated in this harbor and about $20,000,000 capital has lain idle because of low water.

M. Dumas is Dying.

Paris, Nov. 25.—A report circulated early this morning that M. Alexandre Dumas, the distinguished author, was dead was premature. He is suffering from an abscess on the brain and is in a comatose condition. His physicians have no hope of his recovery, and his relatives have been summoned to his bedside.

Alexandre Dumas, novelist, essayist, playwright and Academician, was born in Paris on July 28, 1824. At an early age he was placed in the Goubaux institution, and later he attended the Bourbon college. In both places young Dumas made a brilliant success as a pupil.

At the age of seventeen young Dumas was known as the author of a number of poems, which were published in 1847 under the title of "Les Peches de Jeunesse." Later, after having made a journey with his father to Spain and Africa, he wrote "Adventures of Quatre Femmes d'un Perroquet," and in 1843 a volume which he had written in 1841 was published under the title of "La Dame aux Camellias." He at once became famous as a writer, and his story was dramatized and then translated into many languages.

In 1852 Alexandre Dumas began to write for the stage. "La Dame aux Camellias" was his first work, dramatized from the novel of that name. Its success was even more pronounced than that of the book. It was played at the Vaudeville. It is said that when the elder Dumas saw the performance he said, while tears of joy ran down his cheeks:

"It seems that my son at seventeen was a better dramatist than I am now at forty-nine."

Among those who have played the drama are Bernhardt, Duse and Clara Morris.

Between the years 1856 and 1870 more than fifty curtain raisers and plays from young Dumas' pen were produced in the Paris theaters. After the first disasters of 1870 M. Dumas retired to his estate in Puy, near Dieppe. The day after the Commune he sent to a newspaper in Rouen "La Lettre sur les Choses du Jour," full of patriotism and invective against the revolutionists. Returning to Paris in 1872, he had a series of plays produced at the Gymnase. The first two pieces were "Une Visite de Noces" and "La Princesse Georges."

The great success of the plays was in a measure due to Mlle. Aimée Desclée, who played the principal part. Besides "La Dame aux Camellias," his greatest dramatic triumphs have been "Les Idees de Mme. Aubray," a comedy; "Une Visite de Noces," "La Princesse Georges," "M. Alphonse" and "L'Etranger."

In 1872 he published "L'Homme Feme," which repeated the thesis of his novel, "L'Affaire Clemenceau," and a dramatic version of it was produced at the Gymnase in 1873 under the title "La Femme de Claude," a play which was revived at the Renaissance theater by Sarah Bernhardt in 1894.

M. Dumas' fine collection of pictures was sold in 1892 for more than 500,000 francs.

M. Dumas was installed a member of the French academy on February 11, 1875, and was promoted to the rank of commander of the Legion of Honor. His drama, "Joseph Balsamo," based on his father's romance, "Cagliostro," was performed for the first time at the Odéon, on March 18, 1878. He published in 1880 "Les Femmes qui Tuent et les Femmes qui Votent," in 1881 "La Princesse de Bagdad," in 1885 "Denise" and in 1887 "Francelion."

Owing to the discovery of two new cases of diphtheria in the vicinity of the Shelton avenue district it has been decided to close that school for the present week. An Imaginary Bird, This.

Let us be thankful that the turkey is unable to play "follow my leader" with the bird in the picture. If she could, she undoubtedly would be out of reach,—about Thanksgiving time.

Speaking about turkeys reminds us that we have a little statement to make to the public: For the last two weeks we have been giving away turkeys (and a good many of them), with purchases amounting to $10.00 and over and we will continue to do so until Thanksgiving Day.

We do not claim for this one atom of credit as an action of charity, nor do we put up any claim to philanthropy, except inasmuch as it shows our good will towards our patrons.

It is simply one of our business methods of calling attention to our store and its immense facilities, and incidentally to express in part to our customers and friends our appreciation of their patronage.

Our store will be open Wednesday evening until ten o'clock.

All in want of Clothing will consult their own interest by calling on us; our stock is certainly large and our prices guaranteed lower than elsewhere, and a fine turkey goes with purchases of $10.00 or over.

Money back if you are not satisfied.
